Haven't seen this yet on this forum, but next to the Vortex GPS holder and the Hornig GPS holder, there is also the MV Motorrad Technik GPS holder.

Link: click

In my view a better en prettier option then the Hornig one although I don't have it, I'm using one of the last Vortex holders.

Going "Exclusive".

Price appears to be half sensible.

Hadn't seen that mount before. On my radar now. Lots of tasty CF bits on the site as well

I like that it works with Ram mounts.

Something that makes sense! And what happens with the original mount once it is removed? Do the bolts have to be replaced?

They don't have to, but it looks nicer if they're replaced with the bolts used on bikes that were not equipped with the GPS prep kit.

I used BMW bolts, but maybe chromed conventional bolts would have been nicer.
